LIST OF FIGURES

Figure 1. Laughlin, Wain, and Schmidgall’s proposed construct of pragmatic competence ........ 11
Figure 2. Link to the tutorials section of the online course. .................................................. 33
Figure 3. Video tutorial showing how to navigate the Moodle course. ..................................... 33
Figure 4. Layout of unit 1. ........................................................................................................... 34
Figure 5. Example of request scenario ..................................................................................... 36
Figure 6. Instructions in Part 4: Instructional Content Review. .................................................. 39
Figure 7. Layout of question 1 in the audiovisual SJT. ............................................................... 40
Figure 8. Feedback (i) is provided in learner’s chosen option, and feedback (ii) is provided after all answer options in each question. ................................................................. 40
Figure 9. An international student explaining a request strategy that she had used ................. 42
Figure 10. Layout of unit 2. ....................................................................................................... 44
Figure 11. Two different tasks in Part 2 Unit 2. ....................................................................... 45
Figure 12. Feedback for the two tasks. ...................................................................................... 46
Figure 13. Elements of an email covered in the video in Part 3 Unit 2. .................................... 47
Figure 14. Example email that requires correction in Part 4 Unit 2. ........................................ 48
Figure 15. Example feedback in Part 4 Unit 2. ......................................................................... 49
Figure 16. Example email scenario in Part 5 Unit 2. ............................................................... 49
Figure 17. Example email response as feedback in Part 5 Unit 2. ............................................ 50
Figure 18. Participants’ answers to the question ‘Did your knowledge of making requests improve from using this unit?’ ................................................................. 61